

Descendants of Charles C. Seavert

Generation No. 1

1. CHARLES C.⁴ SEAVERT (JOHANN CHRISTIAN FRIEDRICH³ SIEVERT, JOHANN CHRISTIAN², JOHANN CHRISTIAN¹) was born July 06, 1859 in Zibuhl, Mecklenburg, Schwerin, Germany¹, and died 1942 in Boone, Iowa. He married CAROLINE MARIE MICHELS² January 19, 1881 in Frankfort, Will County, Illinois³, daughter of FRIEDRICH MICHELS and LOUISE STALL. She was born November 21, 1864 in Mecklenburg, Germany⁴, and died 1941 in Boone, Iowa.

Notes for CHARLES C. SEAVERT:

It is Peotone and Monee. They were married in Frankfort, IL All three towns are fairly close. Caroline's father wanted her to marry a much older man who would give her father a cow in return. But just before that she met Charles while working in a dairy where he would deliver milk. She didn't want to marry the old man so they eloped. (story from Aunt Bess.)

According to a SEIVERT Message Board on Ancestry.com, Sievert family immigrated to the USA via the BORUSSIA, landed in Philadelphia and moved to Chicago, IL. From there they moved to western Iowa.

It appears Charles C. Seavert is not his original name. His last name is spelled Sievert by most others in his family, and he was born and christened with the name Carl according to other genealogy information gathered to-date. This is confirmed by Aunt Nadine Lammers and her cousin Dolores (Seavert) Moore.

In the 1880 census, Carl (as he was then known), is living in the household of John Kolpin (spelled Koelpine), Frankfort, Will County, Illinois. And, in 1885, he his married and they are still living with the Kolpin's in Diamond Township, Cherokee County, Iowa, but listed as Charles. By 1900, the family had relocated to Boone, Iowa, where they remained for the rest of their lives.

Notes for ELIZABETH SEAVERT:

Aunt Lizzie was married to Sherman "Shed" Morse. There are pictures of Lizzie in Colorado around 1910, Shed was a hunter, and Lizzie learned to shoot a gun. At that time, Colorado was still the "wild west". Lizzie picked peaches as a summer job with her sister Minnie. In the 1920 census, Lizzie had separated from Shed and is living back in Boone, Iowa, in the home of her parents. She was a seamstress and dressmaker there. Then, before 1930, her brothers Fred and Cy purchased their own farm near Galva, Iowa, and she moved there to help with the housekeeping. As the story goes, one day Shed came walking up the sidewalk...he was ill, and she took him in and cared for him until his death. They are buried together in Boone, Iowa.

2. MINNIE⁵ SEAVERT (*CHARLES C.*⁴, *JOHANN CHRISTIAN FRIEDRICH*³ SIEVERT, *JOHANN CHRISTIAN*², *JOHANN CHRISTIAN*¹) was born July 24, 1886 in Aurelia, Cherokee County, Iowa²⁶, and died November 15, 1918 in Rockwell City, Calhoun County, Iowa. She married CHARLES PARNELL RAFFERTY, SR. October 24, 1916 in Boone, Iowa, son of DENNIS RAFFERTY and ELLEN FITZGERALD. He was born June 29, 1886 in Omaha, Nebraska²⁷, and died September 01, 1976 in Lake City, Calhoun County, Iowa.

Notes for MINNIE SEAVERT:

Grandpa Rafferty and Minnie Seavert courted for 15 years...but she was Lutheran and he was Catholic and it would be frowned upon to marry. But they married in 1916 and moved to Rockwell City, Iowa.

I had always listened to my Grandpa Rafferty tell stories and one of his best was about Minnie playing a tricks on him when they were courting. She worked at the candy store in Boone and they would cool the chocolates in the back window. He would come down the alley to visit with her and would always sneak a chocolate or two. One day she was expecting him and she made a special batch of chocolates. She knew he would "help himself". Well, he snuck a chocolate and popped it in his mouth...but there was something different with the chocolate this time. The chocolate was actually a chocolate covered cotten ball! He pretended there was nothing wrong...that the chocolate was good, and he turned and walked back down the alley. When he thought he was out of sight, he spit out the chocolate--only to turn and see that Minnie had stepped into the alley for a giggle.

It was a terribly sad time for the family when Minnie died of the flu in 1918 just a week after my father was born...and it was always sad for my grandfather to visits take the train with little Charles and Nadine from Rockwell City to Boone to visit the grave and spend time with the Seaverts. November 1918

MRS. RAFFERTY DIES FROM SPANISH "FLU"

Mrs. C. P. Rafferty died last Friday noon in her home in Rockwell City. Death was primarily due to Spanish influenza and to other complications that set in during her two weeks of illness.

Her death was particularly sad, as she leaves a week old baby, another child one year old and her husband, who at the time of her death and burial was seriously ill with influenza.

Remains were taken to Boone Saturday for burial.

Mr. Rafferty is reported to be improving.

WILDCATS READY FOR SAC INDIANS, DOWN POCAHONTAS

Take Second in Circuit; Now Drilling to Stop Carter:

(handwritten 11/19/36)

...Rafferty Scores.

Chuck Rafferty provided the chief thrill of the game in the second quarter when Pocahontas attempted a pass deep in their own territory. Rafferty speared the toss and galloped through the entire Pocahontas team for a touchdown, aided by excellent blocking.

Callaghan, Pocahontas' big star backfield performer, pounded over fo the visitors in the second period, but in the third Toby Anderson, Wildcat wingman, decided the issue by taking Rafferty's pass across the goal line for the final touchdown.

It was a classy, well-played game on both sides all the way. A large crowd lined the sidelines to witness the struggle and got their money's worth of football. The night was chilly but pleasant.

DOLLEGE GRIDDERS WILL OPEN HOME SEASON TONIGH

Captain Chuck Rafferty of the junior college squad and Coach J. A. McKinsxx talk it over on the eve of tonight's game with Estherville, the Panthers' first of the season on the home gridiron. The game starts at 7:45 o'clock.

Rafferty a spohomore, was the college's most consistent ground gainer last season and is a talented passer and kicker.

DODGER GRIDDERS NAME '38 CAPTAINS

Dale Cummings to Lead High School Team--Rafferty and Niessen for the College Team

Dale Cummings was named captain of the 1938 Fort Dodge high school football team, and Chuck Rafferty and Bill Niessen were elected co-captains of next year's junion college eleven at the annual dodger football banquet.

Cummings, a halfback, succeeds Carlon Acher, Rafferty, who hails from Rockwell City, was quarterback of this season's junior college outfit and Niessen, a Grundy Center boy, was a tackle. They succeed Bob Welp.....

IN THE PANTHERS' DEN

Introduced at the football banquet last week were next years Panther co-captains, rangy Bill Niessen and Napoleonic Chuck Rafferty. Bill who is following the example of many other students by working his way through junior college, has been a dependable tackle this year, while Rafferty was in charge of the signal calling. These two should be a good pair of pigskin pushers. They succeeded this year Co-captains Bob Welp and Mickey Castagnoli.

It was in the closing minutes of the last quarte of the Coe charity game, and Fort Dodge was deep in enemy territory. Seeing the danger in a pass, Coach McKinstry sent Jim Cliffe in to warn Quarterback Rafferty not to forward pass--but a few plays later--forward pass. The pass was intercepted and Fort Dodge's scoring chance was gone. The next pause found Cliffe headed for the bench. As he approached, McKinstry barked. "What's the matter, Jim, didn't you tell Chuck not to pass?" With a sorrowful look, Jim dragged out: "Tell him coach? Honest, I begged him."

Chuck Rafferty of Rockwell City, Panther quarter, is an outstanding punt toter and a real hip-swisher in a broken field. Rafferty can be depended on for a nice job of punting every time and his off-tackle gallops have brought the fans to their feet more than once. Best run of the year was his 65-yard return of a punt in the Wartburg game, which paved the way to Fort Dodge's winning marker early in the first period, converting a touchdown drive by the Germans into a score for the Panthers.

Gladys K. Taylor was born February 24, 1919 in Sherman Township, Calhoun County and graduated from Rockwell City High School in 1937. She taught in country schools in Sherman Township. In 1939 she married Charles Rafferty Jr. at Rockwell City. The couple made their home in Rockwell City, where they owned and operated Rafferty's Clover Farm Store. The couple wintered with friends in Brownsville, Texas for many years.

She was a member of Business and Professional Women and the altar and Rosary Society.

She was preceded in death by her parents, daughter, Mary Jeanne Rafferty, and a brother, Charles Taylor.

She is survived by her husband Chrles Jr.; daughters, Myrna Pitstick, Des Moines, Maureen Sorensen, Eagan, Minnesota, and Marilyn wilson, Wayne, Nebraska; sons Michael and Mark, both of Bolinas, California; 11 grand children; four great-grandchildren; aiarwea, Carrie Owen and Margaret Feld, both of Rockwell City, Helen Hanson, Rochester, Minnesota, and Dorothy Hildreth, Des Moines and a brother, Joseph Taylor, Rockwell City.

Song written by Mark and sung to Gladys's relatives at the home of Margaret Feld following the funeral:

Gladys was a lady
My mother and my friend
She also was my mentor
And my disciplinarian.

Gladys taught me right from wrong
The do's from the better do not's
And you can see by the way I turned out
I didn't listen a lot.

(chorus)

There must be trouble in heaven
God needs a referee
Old St. John ain't talking to Paul
'Cause he lost Peter's keys
Mary's got a headache
Baby Jesus' got a bump on the knee
God needs Gladys in heaven
To restore serenity.

Gladys met a boy named Chuck
In the impressionable part of her life
Sparks. Magic. Who knows what.
Soon she was a wife.

Gladys had some brothers
She had some sisters too.
and of all the children that she had
They all had a few.

(repeat chorus)

Gladys was a talker -
W worldclass one at that.
And of all the things that she could do,
She could chew the fat.

A dancer and an artist
She found good in everyone.
And I don't know but I've been told
She was a babe when she was young.

Card of Thanks

On behalf of the immediate family of Gladys Rafferty, I would like to express our heartfelt thanks to the hundreds of people who gathered on Friday and Saturday last week to mourn her death and celebrate her life. Family and friends were always very important to her, and she would have been gratified by the loving spirit of all those gathered to mark her passing. Rockwell City had been her hometown nearly all her life, and the generosity and compassion of the many friends and acquaintances who live here was truly overwhelming. Gladys will be missed, especially by her husband, Chuck, her children, Michael, Myrna, Maureen, Marilyn and Mark, her grandchildren: Amy, Melody, Madonna, Matthew, Mindy, Marcy, Lucy, Aaron, Jessica, Katy and Kristin; her great-grandchildren: Meghan, Mitchell, Michael and the newborn Caitlin (who has her chin), and also by her brother, Joe, her sisters Carrie, Helen, Margaret and Dorothy; and by her more than thirty nieces and nephews too numerous to mention here by name, as well as all their children and all their in-laws. If Gladys were still here she would probably want to draw a chart of genealogy to illustrate all of the complex interrelationships among all these people, for she was very interested in the details of family interactions, and kept track of everyone's birthdays as well as their hopes and dreams. She cared deeply about all of us, and we will miss her very much.
Michael Rafferty

Notes for MICHAEL JOHN RAFFERTY:

Artists Statement by Michael Rafferty for art show at Commonweal, Bolinas, California 2/16/2003

I was born on December 28, 1940 in Rockwell City, Calhoun County, Iowa, the Golden Buckle on the Corn Belt, the oldest of five children. Both my father and my grandfather were butchers. My mother's hobby was painting flowers on china. I worked my way through high school, college and graduate school cutting meat. In 1966 I earned a Master's degree in 19th cCentury American Literature and Creative Writing from the University of Iowa. After teaching for several years, I took a job as an industrial photographer and later an advertising copywriter in New Orleans, Louisiana, where I spiraled down to writing speeches for politicians and taking photographs of women in beauty shops right after they had their hair done.

Not long thereafter I tuned in, turned on, dropped out, and let my mind float downstream, arriving in San Francilso via Virginia Beach, Virginia on a cross-country Greyhound bus the evening of December 7, 1971. I found my way to The Cannery, where my friends Terry Bell, susan Henderson, and Roger Moles were creating and selling beautiful tooled and colored leather products and tie-dyed tee-shirts at the Dickens Faire, a Victorian Christmas-theme craft show. I arrived with 35 cents in the pocket of my trenchcoat, and had to beg my way into the hall. The first thing that happened after I found them was, I broke my glasses. Then we smoked some dope.

Or maybe we smoked dope first, and then I broke my glasses. I can't remember exactly, but the next thing I knew I was running around Sausality in a chicken suit.

One of the popular items my artistic friends produced for sale was a little 3" x 4" leather-backed pocket mirror, with a beautiful and intricate one-of-a-kind tooled designs on the leather back. These, like the tooled belts and little hand-crafted leather boxes were real works of art, beautifully and lovingly made. The prices were reasonable, and my friends were making some pretty good money at the show. I helped out as a gopher, carrying boxes of stuff and making runs for cigarettes, beer and food. On the third or fourth night standing around watching them work, I asked if I could try my hand at making a mirror back. sure, they said. The tools were mostly flower-shapes, stars, and borders, and so I decided to stamp out a bouquet of flowers. I set the bouquet on a table in a vase, added a window in the background and stamped in a few constellations of stars and a big quarter moon. After I finished coloring it, I showed it to my friends, who grunted their acknowledgment. It looked like a kindergartner's work, cute in a primitive kind of way.

I tossed it into the basket of much more beautiful designs, and almost immediately two teenage girls decided to purchase it, even though it didn't have a mirror on it. They liked it as a work of art, they said. My artist friends were amused. I made another one, of similar design, and it immediately sold, this time to an older woman. This caused Susan to become defensive of her artists (she was married to Roger, and both he and Terry had graduated from Drake University School of Art in Des Moines, Iowa) by questioning the taste of the people who chose my designs over theirs. I happened to agree with her, but each time I made one, it sold immediately. I knew it wasn't because of my artistic technique or talent, but rather because of the subject matter. Just the combination of elements, "flowers on a table by a window in the moonlight," seemed to have intrinsic value.

A couple of months later I got a job cutting meat three days a week at the Bolinas Store, and felt like I had died and gone to heaven. Over the years that followed, I would occasionally paint a bouquet of flowers in front of the window looking out on a night sky. Once I sold one, a little painting of a pansy, to Nancy Whitefield, for five dollars, but mostly I gave them away to friends and relatives, who seemed to appreciate them as much as the teenage girls had appreciated my first one.

Time passed, and I grew older. I did many interesting things, and every once in awhile I would make another painting.

On my 55th birthday in 1995 I was diagnosed with ocular melanoma, and on January 9, 1996, I had my right eye removed. Several months later, to my dismay, I discovered that I was unable to paint because my depth perception had gone and I couldn't tell when the paintbrush was going to hit the canvas. I didn't paint anything for about five years, although I did write a couple of novels and used a computer-generated version of my painting on each cover. Then, one evening, I changed the way I held the brush. Instead of standing way back and stabbing, I held the brush like a pen, and braced the heel of my hand on the canvas. In this way, I felt how far away from the surface I was, even if I couldn't tell in the old stereoscopic way.

When I finished my first one-eyed painting, I was so proud of the accomplishment that I brought it to work and hung it in my office. When Mimi Mindel, who works with me, admired the painting, I made one for her. Then I made one for Jenepher, who had admired Mimi's. Then I made one for Catherine, who likes roses. When Mimi suggested I have a show at Commonweal, I told her I didn't have any paintings. She told me to make some. So I did.

Almost all the paintings in this show were made in my spare time during the year 2002. I figure I averaged about an hour a day painting, some days more, some days less, some days not at all.
